

You're not alone

Lung cancer organizations within the community are here to help.

There is an incredible range of services offered by lung cancer organizations. Each organization offers something unique, and below you will find highlights of what each one provides.

The American Cancer Society cancer.org 1-800-227-2345

Offers a variety of programs and resources

Learn about transportation services that help people get to treatment at cancer.org/roadtorecovery

Getting the treatment you need may require traveling outside your local area. You can learn about lodging programs at cancer.org/patientlodging

The Bonnie J. Addario Lung Cancer Foundation lungcancerfoundation.org 1-650-598-2857

Devoted to research, education, and making meaningful change

Watch presentations by leading experts in the community through the Lung Cancer Living Room. Learn how you can participate in the comfort of your own home at lungcancerfoundation.org/patients/portal/living-room

Community Hospital "Centers of Excellence" are located across the country. They provide the latest treatments and offer care from compassionate lung cancer experts. Learn more at lungcancerfoundation.org/patients/centers-of-excellence

GRACE (Global Resource for Advancing Cancer Education) cancergrace.org 1-888-501-1025

Global Resource for Advancing Cancer Education

Committed to providing unique and helpful information to people with lung cancer

Talk to cancer experts and take part in conversations with people who are going through the same things you are on the GRACE online forum at cancergrace.org/discuss

Access the GRACE lung cancer video library to hear medical professionals talk about treatment at cancergrace.org/lung

Lung Cancer Alliance lungcanceralliance.org 1-800-298-2436

Empowers the lung cancer community by helping people navigate the paths of early detection, diagnosis, and treatment

Get free one-on-one support, educational materials, treatment and clinical trial information, referrals, and other resources to help you and your loved ones deal with lung cancer by calling 1-800-298-2436, e-mailing support@lungcanceralliance.org, or by going to <https://lungcanceralliance.org/resources-and-support/general-support/helpline/>

Lung Cancer Research Foundation

lungcancerresearchfoundation.org

1-844-835-4325

Improving lung cancer outcomes by funding research for the prevention, diagnosis, treatment, and cure of lung cancer

Download free patient education materials at lcrf.org/resources

Patients and caregivers can connect with the Lung Cancer Research Foundation's Support Line by calling 1-844-835-4325, Monday-Friday between 9 AM-5 PM ET.

Learn about the Lung Cancer Research Foundation's Free to Breathe Event Series, a nationwide series of run/walks, at lcrf.org/eventseries

LUNgevity

lungevity.org

1-844-360-5864

Changing outcomes for people with lung cancer through research, education, and support

Take part in HOPE Summits, unique conferences that give people with lung cancer the opportunity to come together and support each other in person at lungevity.org/hopesummits

Get peer-to-peer support through a dedicated online network at lungevity.org/lcsc or speak to an oncology social worker at 1-844-360-LUNG (5864)

LVNG With Lung Cancer

lvng.com

1-800-236-9933

A community of people like you who are building each other up with encouragement and empowerment

Get to know people with lung cancer and join the conversation on Facebook at facebook.com/lvngwith

LVNG With Lung Cancer is a community of over 200,000 people just like you who are inspiring each other to face each day with authenticity and hope at lvng.com/personal-stories